Press Release

André Vollbach Promoted to Senior Management of HPM

Hamburg, 1st October 2019 – André Vollbach (41) has been promoted to the senior management of HIH Property Management (HPM). Vollbach, who has so far served as head of the HPM branch office in Düsseldorf, will transfer to Hamburg in October and join the team of Annegret Kirchner and Thomas Junkersfeld. Together with Bettina Höffmann (39) and Christian Kypke (37), Vollbach had already been appointed to the senior management of HPM at the start of this year.

HPM currently has a portfolio of mainly commercial assets worth 8.2 billion euros under management and employs roughly 220 staff at a total of seven locations in Germany. This year, HPM scored the highest customer rating for commercial property management in the Bell Management Report.

“The high customer rating of the Bell Report showed us that HPM managed to position itself as a high-quality provider again and that our customers appreciate the fact,” said Jens Nietner, Managing Director of HIH Real Estate. “In André Vollbach, we found a personality who is familiar with the structure and growth potential of HPM and who can assume the responsibility for the further strategic development.”

About HIH Property Management

HIH Property Management administrates a predominantly commercial real estate portfolio worth 8.2 billion EUR, employs about 218 professionals and maintains branch offices in all of Germany’s “Big Seven” cities. With more than 130 years of experience, the company has established itself in recent years as autonomous property management unit within the HIH Group on the strength of its substantial growth in sales and an excellent reputation. The services of HPM focus on the property management mainly of commercial real estate (office and commercial buildings, retail warehouse parks, hotels and logistics assets) as well as of residential properties on behalf of institutional and private owner groups and investor circles inside and outside Germany.
