HIH Real Estate and INREV, the industry association, invite young professionals to attend Link & Learn in Hamburg

- Regular networking event for young professionals of INREV member companies
- Presentation of current developments in Hamburg's office property market

Hamburg, 6 July 2016 – HIH Real Estate GmbH (HIH) and INREV, the industry association, will host the joint INREV Summer Young Professionals' Link & Learn with subsequent get together in Hamburg on 7 July. Invitations for the networking event that highlights relevant industry topics and offers opportunities for an exchange of ideas have been sent to the young professionals of the INREV membership companies.

The all-day event will commence with an interactive presentation by HIH's Felix Meyen, Head of Transaction Management Germany, who will share insight into current developments and opportunities in Hamburg's office property market. Participants will then be given guided tours through the most recent property developments in the Hafencity before winding down together on the roof terrace of Hogan Lovells where there will be ample opportunity to exchange ideas with the next generation of professionals and discuss relevant industry topics.

"We look forward to meeting the next generation of professionals and leaders to share insight into current market developments and offer an opportunity for a lively exchange of ideas and networking," says Meyen.
